Item 8.01. Other Events.

On March 31, 2011, Equity LifeStyle Properties, Inc. (the “Company”) filed its 2010 Proxy Statement on Schedule 14A with the Securities and Exchange Commission. On April 8, 2011, the Company will mail a booklet entitled “The Life in a Day of Equity Lifestyle Properties 2010” (the “2010 ELS Storybook”) to investors of the Company together with the Company’s 2010 Proxy Statement on Schedule 14A and the 2010 Annual Report. The 2010 ELS Storybook contains a letter from the Company’s Chairman of the Board, Mr. Samuel Zell and the Company’s Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Thomas P. Heneghan, information about the Company’s properties, an industry growth comparison, pictures of the Company’s properties and various short stories and commentary from the Company’s customers. Accordingly, as the 2010 ELS Storybook could be deemed to be solicitation materials under the proxy rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Company is filing this Current Report on Form 8-K.

REIT Industry Same Store NOI Growth

Dear Readers,

The last few years have demonstrated the strength of our company. We have delivered stable, predictable growth in a very difficult economy. In addition, over the long-term our core portfolio has outperformed most other real estate asset classes. One of our favorite graphs during investor presentations compares our core portfolio to the REIT industry average. We have included this graph (at left) – we think it is worth a look. We believe the consistency of our performance is related to the strength of our business plan: owning high quality real estate in sought after locations that provide an attractive lifestyle option to empty-nesters and retirees.

In a difficult economy, investors and analysts viewed our stability and consistency as attractive. However, as optimism about a sustained economic recovery grows, the focus shifts to a renewed interest in risk-taking. Aggressive growth projections, development pipelines and transactional activity have taken the place of balance sheet strength and the stability of cash flow as primary topics for discussion. And frankly, on those topics, our comments are relatively subdued. Although we continue to expect growth, we see caution and a focus on capital preservation as drivers of our core baby boomer customer base. Development in our asset class is difficult to justify even in the best economies and although we are always on the lookout for attractive investments, “distress” opportunities remain elusive.

Nevertheless, we remain confident in our business plan. To the extent there is a strong economic recovery, we believe we are well positioned to participate. In addition, our financial flexibility will allow us to aggressively pursue opportunities when they do arise. In any event, no matter what the future holds, we believe ELS represents a core holding for those investors looking for long-term, stable and predictable cash flow growth.

As we continue our tradition of providing a glimpse of the lifestyle that is ELS, we thought we’d take a cue from the latest trends. To that end, this year, in addition to letters, our collection of stories also includes communications we’ve received from the social networks that have become second nature to most of us.

We hope you enjoy this year’s collection of stories and images depicting “The Life in a Day of ELS.”

"They all call me Ma!"

It's in the Genes:

"When I was 38 I drove my mother down to Arizona for the season. I looked around and thought, 'this is fun.' Each time I drove her down I stayed a bit longer. When I was 51 I began to come down for the season staying October through April. I am now 71 - my 51-year-old daughter has now begun to spend the season here as well. And she's told her friends and they are now heading down for the season. It's not about the age - we all have the same outlook here."

— Gloria C.

“When I’m home I watch strangers walk past my window. At Golden Sun I sit on my porch and everyone says, ‘hello!’”

“At home I’m more introverted. Here, I participate in anything that’s going on.”

“They’ve introduced so many of the things we did for fun when we were younger, like ping-pong and darts. It brings all the ages together. It’s really nice to see.”

“thanks for a great stay”

Dear Medina Lake,

*Thanks for a great stay
- wish we could be here
longer. We've been members since 1989 and have been to many of the TT preserves around the nation and I must tell you this preserve in our opinion is one of the best.*

Once again, Texas is out in front. Keep up the good work!

Brian W One winter day in Sturbridge when I first got my membership, the entire park was covered in ice and the kids and I took turns sliding from the store to the middle of the lake. Then using the heated pool, hot tub and laundry room to dry everything. Awesome day.

Clark F Walking the beach at Pacific City; watching the quail scurry at Verde Valley; quietly watching the deer herds at Timothy Lake South; my granddaughters at the petting pen in Gettysburg Farm; hiking the hills around Pio Pico. Many good memories and many more yet to be revealed.

Hey! Remember when you went camping with my family last fall? I'm at the LaConner preserve again and wish you were :)

Jun 22, 2010 12:20 PM

OMG that was so much fun!! I was just talking to my mom about that the other day and almost have her convinced to go when it warms up. crosses fingers

Jun 22, 2010 2:25 PM

Haha I'll cross my fingers for you! Tell her you'll show her the Lone Tree and cook dinner when you get back.

Jun 22, 2010 6:15 PM

Off to the @ThousandTrails Rancho Oso preserve with my family for the weekend! So excited! #camping #vacation #finally

Just had a great trip to Lake and Shore and already want to go back! #backtoreality

Any tips for building a good #campfire? Leaving the city to go #camping & plan on getting the fire started right away #smoresanyone

Hey, we just got here. What r u up to? Come by our site! We're about to build a fire and have plenty of food and drinks.

Aug 4, 2010 1:26 PM

Fire? Food? Drinks? You know me too well. I'll be over in 5. Need me to bring anything?

Aug 4, 2010 3:23 PM

Lol I knew you'd be game. Can you bring cards so we can play the same game as last time?
